

1. Navigation Bar

This bar features the logo and all section links, as well as a search bar and log in/create account links. This bar is not fixed. The logo acts as a “home” link. When a section link is hovered over, it transforms into a drop-down box with sub-section links.

2. Main Article

The main article extends full-bleed on the page. On section pages, this will be the top article for that section.

3. Featured Articles

The featured articles can scroll horizontally in a scroll-wheel type motion. These are some of the most popular articles across any section.

4. Footer

The footer should feature the logo, social media icons, and all relevant partner site and administrative links.

1. Hamburger Menu

This bar, unlike on desktop, is fixed and follows while scrolling. When the hamburger menu is tapped, it opens up the menu in #4.

2. Main Article

The main article extends full-bleed on the page. On section pages, this will be the top article for that section.

3. Featured Articles

The featured articles are displayed as a single column on mobile screens and will scroll vertically. There is a maximum of four featured articles on the home screen.

4. Hamburger Menu (Open)

Opening the hamburger menu brings up a modal that has links to each section. At the bottom, it also has a search bar and log in/account creation links.
